EXCITEMENT AT A HOTEL.

A Candidate and Four Other Guest Held Up For All Their Money.

HENNEPIN, ILL., June 30.—John Soboski, Prohibition candidate for governor of Missouri, was a victim and the hero of an exciting adventure with rob-bers at the Magnolia House. The hotel had five guests. At midnight five men, masked and armed with rifles, forced an entrance on the ground floor, where were sleeping the landlord and his wife, and succeeded in gagging and binding them and securing the valuables before they could make an outcry. The hired man was treated similarly, and the women servants were terrified into sience by threats

One of the robbers was left on guard and the others made their way up the stairs, where the guests were sleeping. Two were stationed in the long hall, and the others, entering the rooms in succession, aroused the sleepers and orced them to march out and stand in line. Then the rooms were revisited, and the plunder secured reached $1,200. The robbers then departed. Soboski, procuring a horse gave chase. He overtook three of the thieves, and in a lively skirmish the pursuer's horse was killed under him. Then the despera-

A more appropriate spot, by surroundings and tradition, in which to ommit the bloody deed could not have been found, even in a city noted for its floating population of thugs.

Jacob Harvey became infatuated with Mrs. Lehman after she had left her husband, and for the year preceding the tragedy they lived together as man and wife. But he proved quite as cruel a master as had been the husband to whom she was tied by law, though not by love. Many times and for trivial causes Harvey kicked and struck her, and one fateful day last August he beat her into insensibility. That broke the limit of endurance, and she had him arrested, whereupon Harvey with curses rested, whereupon Harvey with curses and obscene epithets promised that he would be revenged upon her when he was released from confinement. On the 17th of August Harvey, with a number of other prisoners, broke jail, and for a month he disappeared from public view. RESULTS OF SCIENTIFIC EXPERI-MENTS IN AGRICULTURE.

Bulletin From the Utch Station Detailing An Experiment in the Feeding of Horses to Get the Best Results.

Prepared Exclusively for the Central Pres-Association, of Columbus, O., by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station. Bulletin No. 13 of the Agricultural director, J. W. Sanborn. In the latter respect it is known that the horse's stomach is very small, and that grain is liable to be washed out of it, as the stomach necessarily overflows with

As usual, the writer fed two lots of horses for nearly three mouths, one lot with hay and grain mixed, and the other lot with hay and grain ted sep-arately. At the end of this period the food was reversed, and the horses were fed some two months more. It would be unnecessary to quote the figures of lengthy trial. As this trial is in accord with trials with ruminants and with the pig, it would seem quite probably that the old and pertistent argument in favor of mixing hay and grain is not sound.

The second trial reported in this bulletin covered feeding of cut against whole hay to horses. This trial also covered two periods in which the foods were reversed with the sets in order to determine whether any change of weights found was due to the individualism of the hores, or whether it was due to the system of feeding.
